THE WORLD OF POLITICS.

Proceedings of the Democratic Convention at Walla Walla

A VOORHEES NOMINATED FOR DELEGATE

More about the Infamous Morey Letter—The Republican Majority in Maine Still Increasing—Political Points

WALLA WALLA Sept 10 — [Special] The democratic territorial convention met to-day at [illegible] Hon J J Brown of Spokane called the meeting to order and Joe Kuhn of Port Townsend was made temporary chairman.

After some delay C H Warner of Whitman county was made permanent chairman and [illegible] McFadden of Olympia secretary and Henry Kalling assistant secretary.

Adjournment was taken for the committee on platform to report. The committee met and reported the following platform:

The democratic party of Washington territory through its representatives in convention assembled declare as follows: We approve [illegible] as proclaimed by the national democratic convention, and heartily endorse the nomination of Cleveland and Hendricks for president and vice president. The public lands are the heritage of the people and should be held by the government as a sacred trust to be sold to actual settlers in small holdings. The government heretofore under republican rule made unwise and improvident grants of large tracts of public land to corporations for the purpose of securing the construction of important lines of railway and said corporations having in many instances failed to construct such railways in accordance with the generous conditions of said grants the government should now avail itself of the breach of condition and resume control of the granted lands thereby closing for the future forever the open gateway through which a system of landlordism was bearing such sorrowful and calamitous fruit to the fairest portions of Europe is effecting an entrance into our free republic.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company having more than twenty years ago been granted lands amounting to an empire in extent to aid in the construction of a railroad from Lake Superior to Puget Sound, upon the most munificent terms and conditions which terms and conditions it has flagrantly violated it has now no legal nor equitable claim to these lands, and can receive none of them except as an act of grace on the part of the government.

FORFEITURE DEMANDED

We therefore demand that the government shall resume control of these granted lands except such as have been sold to bona fide purchasers and in such cases the purchasers title should be confirmed. Those portions of the grant within the limits of the withdrawal of the main line from Wallula to Kalama on the Columbia river via Portland and to the Cascade branch from the main line to eastern Washington to the terminus on Puget Sound and all lands within the so called lieu lands along the line should be unconditionally restored to the public domain the company having never constructed any of those portions of its chartered lines. Titles of settlers and bona fide purchasers within such limits should be confirmed and the company compelled to account to the government for the proceeds of such sales. All other parts of the company's enormous grant should be restored to the domain of the government and be opened to settlement under the existing land laws of the United States and the proceeds turned over to the company.

We believe the control of large areas of land by individuals or corporations is wrong in principle and dangerous to the public welfare. We denounce as fraught with peril to our rights and liberties the high-handed attempt of the Northern Pacific railroad to control the legislation and politics of this territory. We denounce the attempt of the Northern Pacific to secure from the president the acceptance of its Puyallup coal road as a part of the Cascade branch said road having been built many years ago simply as a local road wholly within the limits of and withdrawn from the main line [illegible] of said company without any pretense or intimation that this was ever intended to be any part of said branch line. We characterize such attempt as an act of bad faith and fraud on the part of said company made for the purpose of securing by stealth and without right valuable public lands worth many times the cost of the whole of the proposed said branch lines.

MORE ANTI-RAILROAD PLANKS

We are in favor of the immediate repeal of the gross earnings tax law enacted at the last session of the territorial legislature.

We favor equal taxation with all other property of the real and equitable interests of railroad corporations in lands owned by them or by their assigns and to that end favor the enactment of the necessary legislation either by congress or the territorial legislature.

We favor the enactment by congress and the territorial legislature of laws regulating freights and fares upon railroads so as to prevent extortionate charges and unjust discrimination.

Through the legislation and wise policy in the administration of the government the [illegible] laborers are still [illegible] compete with and [illegible] trade honest and free labor and we charge the republican party with bad faith in the enforcement of the Chinese restriction act.

We are in favor of such a change in the existing laws as will fully protect the lives, rights and property of miners.

We favor the enactment of laws imposing severe fines and penalties upon any railroad company or its agents that shall give or offer to give directly or indirectly any passes, tickets or other transportation to any member of the legislature or any officer thereof or to any delegate to any political convention.

We condemn the course of the Northern Pacific railroad in their departure from the policy of charging equal freights to the interior and terminal points of the road as an unjust violation of its good promises made; that the compelling of interior merchants and shippers to pay a freight charge upon their shipments of merchandise from the east equal to the amount charged to the Pacific terminal and back to their respective points over hundreds of miles is an imposition that should not be borne by the producers and consumers along the line without using every possible means of redress and that until this great wrong is righted and assured beyond a possibility of repetition the whole people of Washington territory should regard with jealous suspicion all unbounded promises of this company and unite in demanding equal and exact justice in all matters pertaining to freight charges as a matter of right.

OTHER PLANKS

We are opposed to the selection of non residents to fill the federal offices within the territory. We ask for the speedy admission of Washington territory with the name of Washington as one of the sovereign states of the federal union and we favor the incorporation of northern Idaho within the limits of the future state.

We are in favor of so amending the law as to relieve women from compulsory jury duty in this territory and with this amendment we heartily endorse the present laws extending the right of suffrage to women and declare that the elective franchise should not be denied to any citizen on account of sex.

We are in favor of liberal appropriations for the improvement of all the navigable rivers and waters of the territory.

Resolved That the Northern Pacific railroad is an organized evil which should be expelled from the territory and we instruct our delegates if elected to request congress at the earliest date possible to tear up the track. [Jeers and hisses.]

After very little debate contrary to expectation the platform was adopted.

VOORHEES NOMINATED FOR DELEGATE

Nominations were then in order and the following were nominated: Brigadier general James McA [illegible] of Walla Walla; adjutant general W E Adderson of Dayton; quartermaster Frank Hand of Jefferson; commissary general Simon [illegible] of Spokane.

Hon Thomas Burke of Seattle in a most eloquent speech placed in nomination for delegate Hon. W [illegible] White of King county.

Hon. Jacob Hoover then nominated C S Voorhees of Whitman county.

First ballot—Voorhees received 39 Henry [illegible] White [illegible] Stewart 16 Burke 14.

Second ballot—Voorhees 54 White [illegible] Henry 11. Voorhees was declared nominated.

J C McFadden was unanimously nominated prosecuting attorney for the counties of Thurston Mason Chehalis, Pacific Wahkiakum and Cowlitz. J W [illegible] joint councilman for Columbia Garfield and Asotin counties. Kit Harris joint representative between Garfield and Asotin counties.

Tacoma was chosen as the place of holding the next territorial convention.

THE MOREY LETTER

Hadley and Barnum Appear as Witnesses in a Case in Relation to the Document

NEW YORK Sept 10 — Henry H Hadley of Morey letter fame was examined to-day in the superior court, special term, in the supplementary proceedings in the suit brought by Frank P Marsh in which judgment was recovered some time ago upon a note for $[illegible]. The object of the examination was to find out whether the democratic national committee owed Hadley anything and to secure the amount of judgment. Hadley had no doubt that he was authorized to do whatever was necessary in connection with the investigation of the authenticity of the Morey letter. He could not remember distinctly but from the [illegible] which had been published from W H [illegible] for $300 he thought he was authorized. He believed he was authorized by Dickinson, stenographer of the committee. Details of the matter were not [illegible] impressed on his memory. "Ask me at [illegible]" he said "whether I wrote the letter or not [illegible] what I can go to dinner. You dare not." Continuing, he said that he might have received one from Chairman Barnum. On being shown a letter dated October 30 1880 purporting to be from Barnum he said the letter was in Dickinson's handwriting. He did not believe it was authorized by Barnum. He thought he had no conversation with our instructions [illegible] Barnum before he went to Columbia. He had an interview with Barnum however before going to Massachusetts. He was uncertain whether he had a legal claim against the committee but believed he had an equitable claim. He put no price on his services but would have accepted any [illegible]. Legally he supposed he had been paid in full for his services in connection with the investigation of the Morey letter, as he made no contract with the committee.

CHAIRMAN BARNUM

Ex United States Senator Wm H. Barnum chairman of the democratic national committee was examined. He said about two weeks before opening the democratic headquarters in 1880 Hadley who had been previously introduced, came to him for money to start a republican Hancock club. Hadley was told he might spend $500. After publication of the Morey letter word came from New Hampshire that Morey could be found out about at Lynn Massachusetts, and Hadley said he would go for his expenses only. He was given $200 or $250 for expenses before going, the committee was afterwards informed that Hadley had gotten into some-

Next in their disappointment and despair they turned to Maine and waited all their ready means on the home of the Plumed Knight but Blaine proves no deadhead in Maine [illegible] he has many [illegible] vote and now what next? STILLWATER Minn Sept 10—A cyclone passed over the country north of this city last night. A large amount of property was destroyed and a number of people injured some seriously. The storm extended about twelve miles. The direction of the cyclone seems to have been from west to east veering to the southeast as it crossed the St Croix river into Wisconsin within three or four miles of this city. The damage to farm buildings and grain is very heavy. A party engaged in threshing for Charles Thelander in the town of Grant retreated to the barn for protection but the structure was demolished and George Rutherford was caught in the falling timbers and fatally injured. Several others were hurt badly. Reports [illegible] loss of life can be made at present.

LETTERS TO THE NEW YORK "SUN."

Every day the New York Sun gives a number [illegible] in its columns [illegible] letters from democrats of [illegible] letters protesting against Cleveland as a [illegible] The following are extracts from a few:

WASHINGTON [illegible]

The independent republicans [illegible] [illegible] truth and [illegible] [illegible] to bolt the Chicago ticket [illegible] retirement from the false position they occupies.

The reason assigned for the Curtis [illegible] [illegible] pretence was the political uncleanness of James G Blaine. [illegible] [illegible] confronted with democratic [illegible] [illegible] Their presence in Cleveland's camp [illegible] of their abhorrence of Blaine's political sh[illegible] [illegible] They have but a little time to relearn their character. They began as [illegible] They now figure as [illegible] [illegible] unless they purge themselves of the impurity with which they have confessedly come into personal contact.

They can only do this by returning to Blaine whose record [illegible] their consciences. Obviously they [illegible] withdrawal of [illegible] They can then stand squarely [illegible] principle and [illegible] the purity of their motives.

[illegible] N Y Aug

Business [illegible] since the 15th of July to visit almost every county in this state and I have conversed with prominent democrats in nearly every town [illegible] The dissatisfaction over the nominations of Cleveland and Hendricks cannot be described and democrats of twenty years standing [illegible] for [illegible]

[illegible] will cost Mr Cleveland [illegible] [illegible] will undoubtedly [illegible]

In several counties the party is so disheartened that no attempt will be made to have the usual campaign clubs [illegible] by hundreds [illegible]

Both parties complain of the lack of funds and say the local contributions are exceedingly small. I consulted [illegible] democrat [illegible] county to-day [illegible] in regard to the political outlook here. He said: "I have never voted anything but a straight democratic ticket in my life but I can't go for Cleveland. I can name over a hundred persons and have no doubt but there are over a thousand democrats in this county alone that will not vote for Cleveland. A large majority will vote for Butler [illegible] will not go to the polls."

[illegible] generally [illegible] are opposed to Cleveland [illegible] Butler and Blaine will gain but few votes from that body. In Chenango Madison [illegible] [illegible] counties St John has a [illegible] and many hearty supporters.

HARTFORD Aug [illegible]

[illegible] in Connecticut has there been such [illegible] opposition to the democratic ticket [illegible] Irish voters. But now in the city of New [illegible] several [illegible] Irishmen who have always voted the democratic ticket who refuse [illegible] [illegible] clubs. There are the Central [illegible] [illegible] the Sixth ward club with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] papers are [illegible] [illegible] for signatures [illegible] have already [illegible] will vote for [illegible] [illegible] organizations [illegible] [illegible] managers say [illegible] Blaine will [illegible] In Hartford [illegible] the same [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] have done him a positive [illegible] made no effort [illegible] have stripped the [illegible] but they have con[illegible] [illegible] exposed to [illegible] and there it [illegible] stern and startling [illegible] [illegible] stands the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] lately respected but [illegible] pointing her trembling [illegible] as the cause of her [illegible] people of America are looking full at the [illegible] and yet the gentlemen [illegible] committee profess to believe that [illegible] will elect Cleveland president of the [illegible] God save the mark [illegible] should immediately withdraw.

NEW YORK Aug [illegible]

I have [illegible] thought highly of Mr Hendricks and have wished that his name might have stood at the head of the democratic ticket. But Mr Hendricks' letter as published in this morning's Sun shows [illegible] ring the ticket [illegible] [illegible] of Indiana having condescended to lower himself to the moral level of the present governor of New York. Mr Hendricks letter [illegible] it is false in its assertions illogical in its argument [illegible] its morals and inaccurate in its language. Let me demonstrate these four propositions.

First—It is false in its assertions. He says [illegible] Cleveland's scandal will not have weight with the people. He knows and everybody knows that the Cleveland scandal as he calls it has had weight [illegible] weight and must have weight with the people. The very letter to which Mr Hendricks is an answer [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cleveland [illegible] [illegible] Mr Hendricks [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] adultery [illegible] [illegible] and apology is [illegible]

[illegible]—It is illogical in its argument. He says [illegible] Cleveland has stood the test [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cleveland's criminality and [illegible] that they are there fore ready and willing [illegible] Mr Hendricks [illegible] [illegible] Mr Cleveland's moral character was [illegible] as it is now known [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cleveland was elected [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] public [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that only a few years ago [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] connection with some of his [illegible] the widowed mother of two innocent children and that he acknowledged himself to be the father of her illegitimate child which child is to-day living the only person as far as known entitled to the heirship of Mr Cleveland's name and honors. To infer from what the people might and did when Mr Cleveland's character was not known to them that they will think and do the same now that he is admitted to have been a rake and a libertine is certainly the poorest kind of logic.

Thirdly—It is corrupt in its morals. He says that the Cleveland scandal ought not have weight with the people. I say it ought. Thousands and thousands say it ought. Virtue says it ought. Morality says it ought. Common decency says it ought. Ought not have weight with the people!

In the history of the race in the history of all nations no crime has been more insidious in its workings more damning in its consequences, than the crime of licentiousness. And Mr Hendricks knows this, and every one knows it and no one not even Mr Cleveland, will deny it. And then to say that admitted immorality acknowledged licentiousness a tainted character ought not have weight with the people! "Ought not"! Would that be your opinion Mr Hendricks if the deluded woman was your mother your daughter your sister your wife? Mrs Halpin was a daughter once pure a sister, once pure a wife once pure a mother once pure. Mr Cleveland had he been a noble man, a true man would have tried to save her for her own sake, for the sake of her father and mother and for the sake of her innocent children but his lust was greater than his manhood and [illegible] gratify himself, he contributed all he could toward her disgrace and ruin. And yet it ought not have weight with the people.

Fourth—It is inaccurate in its language. And such inaccuracy hides beneath it a gross perversion of the truth, otherwise I would not notice it. He uses this expression "old and exploded private slanders" and such as these he claims should not and will not injure Mr Cleveland. They shouldn't I admit it. But this story is not old it has only been made public within a few weeks. It is not [illegible] [illegible] which implies denied "refuted" [illegible] proved for it is admitted by all parties and by Mr Cleveland himself. It is not a slander for it is the [illegible] truth.

[illegible] a democrat [illegible] citizen and patriot believe that the best interests of this country of the people of truth and of morality to say nothing of religion, will be promoted by conferring our two highest national honors, the office of president and vice president, upon a licentious rake and his defender and apologist.

One Source of Short-sightedness.

At a meeting in Berlin of the medical pedagogic society, it was stated that the percentage of short-sighted children in the country and in towns was attributed in part to the wearing of spectacles from vanity. The unnecessary use of glasses has been found to produce short-sightedness. The opinion prevailed that medical advice should be taken before giving spectacles to a child. An instance showing the need of it was given of a school in Berlin, where forty-seven pupils out of 100 were using glasses of too high a power.

Very few go to Europe and very many return. This is the record for July, and it is one of the results of the cholera abroad.

CALIFORNIA

To Advertise Northern California

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 10 [Special]—Next Tuesday a meeting will be held at Sacramento for the purpose of developing the resources of the northern counties, giving trustworthy information to incoming immigrants, and in all ways possible attracting desirable settlers. The southern part of the state has been very well organized for this purpose and the success that has attended the efforts of the southern people has induced dwellers in northern counties to make an effort to acquaint the world at large with that which they believe to be the most fruitful and charming portion of California. The meeting will be held during the progress of the state fair so that all people from the northern region who are there gathered can take part. N D Rideout will, it is expected, preside and following are some of the prominent citizens who have entered heartily into the project and will act as directors of the association: N D Rideout, John Bidwell, W H Parks, L Frear, J C Brown, H M Lorne, Judge C C Bush, General N P Chapman, Joseph Cohn, James Montgomery, T C Tuck, W S Green, J B Brown and Joseph Steffens, president of the Sacramento board of trade. It has been suggested that the border counties of Oregon join in the movement and they will probably be invited to do so.

The German Vote

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 10 [Special]—As a stand off against the meeting of Irishmen in the interest of Blaine and Logan last Saturday a meeting of Germans in the democratic interest is announced for next Saturday night. The managers of both parties are making strong efforts to conciliate this element apparently unmindful of the fact that above all elements the German is most given to voting as it pleases. The Abendpost democratic organ contains an article in German text every day or two trying to fasten the charge of prohibition sentiment upon the republican party.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has demonstrated its power of cure for all diseases of the blood.

The Harpooner's Story.

New Bedford, June 1 1883

DR J C AYER & CO—Twenty years ago I was a harpooner in the North Pacific, when five others of the crew and myself were laid up with scurvy. Our bodies were bloated gums swollen and bleeding teeth loose purple blotches all over us, and our breath seemed rotten. Take it by and large we were pretty badly off. All our lime juice was accidentally destroyed, but the captain had a couple dozen bottles of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA and gave us that. We recovered on it quicker than I have ever seen men brought about by any other treatment for scurvy and I've seen a good deal of it. Seeing no mention in your Almanac of your Sarsaparilla being good for scurvy, I thought you ought to know of this, and so send you the facts.

Respectfully yours, RALPH Y WINGATE.

The Trooper's Experience.

Masseru, Basutoland (S Africa,) March 7, 1883

DR J C AYER & Co.—Gentlemen: I have much pleasure to testify to the great value of your Sarsaparilla. We have been stationed here for over two years during which time we had to live in tents. Being under canvas for such a time brought on what is called in this country "veldt-sores." I had those sores for some time. I was advised to take your Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which made my sores disappear rapidly, and I am now quite well.

Yours truly, T. E. BODEN,
Trooper, Cape Mounted Riflemen.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 11, 1884.

THE TARIFF IN REPUBLICAN PLATFORMS.

The impression somewhat widely prevails that the republican party is committed to protection for the sake of protection, and that it is a party duty to support that doctrine. This is entirely erroneous. A reference to the utterances of the party in its national platforms shows that up to this year certainly, and in the present platform probably—though that contains a change in the phraseology which may possibly be significant, as will be shown further on—the republican doctrine has been that duties on imports are imposed for the purpose of revenue, but that they should be so adjusted as to encourage and promote the healthful growth of our interests and protect American labor against the cheaper wages paid in Europe. The first platform of the party, adopted at Philadelphia in 1856, contained no reference to the subject whatever. The next national convention at Chicago in 1860 contains the first statement of the republican doctrine. It declared "that, while providing revenue for the support of the general government by duties upon imports, sound policy requires such an adjustment of these imposts as to encourage the development of the industrial interest of the whole country." The convention held in Baltimore in 1864 made no reference to the tariff, but recommended "economy and rigid responsibility in the public expenditures, and a vigorous and just system of taxation." The next convention simply said: "It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit." In 1872 the national republican convention declared that "revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax upon tobacco and liquors, should be raised by duties upon importations, the details of which should be so adjusted as to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor and promote the industries, prosperity and growth of the whole country." The Cincinnati convention in 1876 declared that "the revenue necessary for current expenditures, and the obligations of the public debt, must be largely derived from duties upon importations, which, so far as possible, should be adjusted to promote the interests of American labor and advance the prosperity of the whole country." The next convention reaffirmed "the belief avowed in 1876, that the duties levied for the purpose of revenue should so discriminate as to favor American labor." The last convention at Chicago varied the statement slightly for the first time, so as to give prominence to the idea of protection as something more than the "incidental object of tariff taxation." It announced the doctrine that "it is the first duty of a good government to protect the rights and promote the interests of its own people," and therefore demanded "that the imposition of duties on foreign imports shall be made, not for revenue only, but that, in raising the requisite revenues for the government, such duties shall be so levied as to afford security to our diversified industries and protection to the rights and wages of the laborer, to the end that active and intelligent labor, as well as capital, may have its just reward and the laboring man his full share in the national prosperity." This declaration appears to differ from the preceding ones. It is the first explicit statement made by the national republican party that duties should be imposed "not for revenue only." If the convention had stopped with that utterance a new doctrine would have been announced, but with the qualifying phrase which follows the statement harmonizes with preceding utterances on the subject, and makes the record of the party consistent throughout. A fair construction makes the latest declaration of the party simply mean that the tariff imposed for revenue should be so arranged as to discriminate in favor of American industry.

The imposition of a tariff for anything but revenue was never authorized by the party platform. Revenue has been the end, and protection an incident in the established doctrine of the republican party. And the war tariff was adopted in accordance with this doctrine. With the exception of the excessive duties on wool and woolen goods all the principal duties, especially those on metals, ores, textiles and chemicals, were levied either with the purpose of securing a war revenue or for the purpose of compensating domestic manufacturers for burdens imposed by internal taxation. With the abolition of internal taxation, except the whisky and tobacco tax, the corresponding customs dues would be no longer justified, and an attempt was made by the last congress to reduce them. As a revenue measure the war tariff had become extremely burdensome, and it was utterly unjustified in its economic purposes. But when the work of reduction was undertaken, the protected interests, not the labor of the country, made such strong appeals to congress for the retention of the duties, that a few republicans, to justify their yielding to the demands of these interests, announced the new doctrine, which the democrats, not over scrupulous in observing the truth of history, have imputed to the republican party that tariff duties should be imposed for the purpose of protection. Senator Frye distinctly avowed this doctrine, and it has come to be assumed that the party stands committed to it. In the stump speeches of the day reference is sometimes made to Henry Clay as sponsor for this doctrine. But Mr. Clay's opinion, from which he never departed, is exactly in harmony with the historic policy of the republican party. It is contained in the following words: "As far as he could go he would, and that was not to lay duties for protection alone, but in laying duties for revenue to supply the government with means, to lay them so as to afford incidental protection. He would, therefore say to all friends of protection, lay aside all attempts beyond this standard and look to that which is attainable and practicable." This is the "American policy," as it is called, which has been, and is to-day, the policy of the republican party.

There is no warrant in the constitution for going beyond the doctrine distinctly set forth in the platforms of the party. Recent decisions of the federal courts make this plain if any demonstration were needed. "Protection for the sake of protection," is a fine sounding phrase, but it is not contained in any platform of the republican party, and it is without warrant in the constitution. A tax was laid on such a principle by the direction of the legislature of Kansas a few years ago, which was intended to aid in establishing manufactures in the city of Topeka. The right to do so was contested, and came before the supreme court of the United States and the court declared through Justice Miller:

> "To lay with one hand the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build private fortunes, is none the less a robbery because it is done under the forms of law and is called taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms."

And the court added:

> "If it be said that a benefit results to the local public of a town by establishing manufactures the same may be said of any other business or pursuit which employs capital or labor. The merchant, the mechanic, the inn keeper, the banker, the builder, the steamboat owner, are equally promoters of the public good, and equally deserving the aid of the citizens by forced contributions. No line can be drawn in favor of the manufacturer which would not open the coffers of the public treasury to the importunities of two-thirds of the business men of the city or town."

The state legislature had in this case powers even more ample than those of the congress of the United States, and the argument of the court applies even more strongly to the federal than to the state government. The fallacy of the arguments by which "protection for the sake of protection" is supported, we have often exposed. It is vain to attempt to circumvent social laws. When a bounty is given in the form of a protective tariff to one class of citizens, another class must be taxed to pay it.

the republican party in 1864 pledged itself to support. It is not the "equal taxation" which the convention in 1868 declared to be "due to the labor of the nation," and it does not bring to "the laboring man his full share in the national prosperity," which the last convention made one of the purposes of the republican policy. THE OREGONIAN, in its position on the tariff issue, is consistent with the historic policy of the republican party, which has never advocated a tariff "for the sake of protection," but "for the purpose of revenue, which should so discriminate as to favor American labor;" and this is as far as congress can go without exceeding the powers granted to it by the constitution.

AN ELECTRICAL FAIR.

To what uses is electricity yet to be applied? Experiments with it are attracting more and more attention every year, yet not more than the importance of the subject deserves. An electrical fair is now in progress at Philadelphia, and will continue several weeks. Only within the last dozen years has man's inventive genius been able to utilize the possibilities of electricity. What the fluid is we do not know, and so the mystery of its force has an attraction for inquiring and speculative minds. In all probability we have the limits of utilization of other forces—as steam, heat, etc. We may make improvements in machinery, but the mystery of vaporized water has been fully investigated. But our great natural force—electricity—is still a problem, and what to do with it will for many years yet claim the inventor's best thought. Scarcely more than a hundred years have passed since Franklin stealthily (for he had to run from popular ridicule) went out in the commons near Philadelphia with his famous kite and made known to the world that the terror of the clouds and what we now have manufactured as electricity are one and the same. A hundred years ago Rev. Ebenezer Kinnersley had up-hill work in talking in a scientific way about the new force, as he had not only to combat ordinary ignorance, but what is more antagonistic, religious superstition. Says Mr. Westcott, in an article on this subject:

> Kinnersley's lectures were scientific in their basis, but to render them instructive it was necessary that he should interest ordinary persons who knew nothing of philosophy. He employed models and toys; a lightning stroke, discharged at a small house, was made to pass by a doll, dressed as a lady, and strike a figure in the character of a negro. By his experiments Kinnersley said that he hoped to show that endeavoring to guard against lightning was not chargeable with presumption nor inconsistent with the principles of natural or revealed religion.

The world has made many a progressive stride since the days of Franklin and Kinnersley, and the electrical exhibition at Philadelphia will enumerate them. While due credit must ever be given to those who first began experiments with electricity, it will be just to view with pride how we have improved what others have suggested. This exhibition will be the most unique and startling one ever held in this country—perhaps in the world. Five towers with brilliant arc lamps will eclipse the sun. Among these will be the huge light used by the naval department, throwing a two mile long ray over the city, while in the interior of the building lamps of all kinds will leave no shadows, but swathe everything in a light brighter than noon day. Not only will the useful be exhibited, but the strange and beautiful will also form a part. From a Philadelphia journal we take the following description of some of the beautiful effects the visitor will behold.

> Around the gallery other arc lamps will be distributed, interspersed with numberless incandescent globes, while rising from the center of the hall the grand fountain will throw jets forty feet high, surrounded by a series of streams of living fire, starting from the midst of rare and beautiful tropical plants and flowers.
> A very beautiful effect will be produced in one part of the building by a pair of electrically illuminated trees. These are simply stands composed of innumerable incandescent lamps on branches, which, when supplied with currents, have a very brilliant and dazzling result.

Everything to which electricity has been applied will be exhibited. Scientific men from all parts of the world will be present to give the fruits of their learning and experiments, both in public lectures and in practical demonstrations. The exhibition will mark a stage in the progress of man's mastery over the most subtle and potent of all forces with which he is acquainted, and the one which it seems probable will become far more useful to him than any other that has ever been or ever will be harnessed to his service. Of its practical and perhaps general appliance to locomotion there is little reason to doubt. The extent of the uses to which it may be applied it is as yet impossible to conjecture; but it may be said with probability that it is destined to minister more to the convenience and comfort of man than any other force or agency in the universe.

Several letters from Corvallis about the state agricultural college have recently been published in THE OREGONIAN. It is claimed that the college is not conducted according to law, and that it ought to be separated from the sectarian influence that controls it. On the other hand the brethren of the Methodist church south publish a declaration to the effect that if the citizens of Benton county and others, who may be interested, do not come up with the sum of $25,000 to build a suitable structure for the college, they will throw up the trust received from the state. As a matter of fact all the strength of the state's higher educational effort ought to be concentrated at a single point. Combination of the state agricultural college with the state university would effect this. The work of the agricultural college could be made a department of the state university, and the endowment it has received could be used with better economy in that relation. The statement that the trust will be thrown up unless $25,000 be subscribed for a building will put to the test the extent of Benton county's desire to retain the agricultural college.

In Chicago on the evening of September 6 an anti-Cleveland demonstration was held at the West Twelfth street Turner hall, under a call issued by 1082 former democrats, all of whose names, together with their places of residence, were appended to the call. The meeting was addressed by democratic speakers exclusively. There were 100 vice presidents, divided proportionately among the wards. Ex Alderman Michael McCaulay, a democrat long prominent in local politics at Chicago, presided. The demonstration was one that made the democratic bosses of the city look blue.

In its article on the result in Maine the New York Times says that "the real struggle is yet to be made," that it "will be determined by forces far more potent than those enlisted in Maine," and that "those forces are working steadily and strongly against Blaine." Those "forces" are the free whisky forces of Ohio and the west, supported by heavy contributions of money from the distillers, brewers and "reformers" of the east, with whom the "independents" are campaigning for "clean politics." We shall all see how this effort in behalf of "purity," headed by "Maria's man," will come out next month in Ohio.

The New York Sun, continuing its fire upon Cleveland, brands him as "a very black and very foul blotch," as "a man not only gross and immoral in his habits, but the confessed father of an illegitimate child and presumably the betrayer of an unfortunate woman;" as "a man of lax and indecent habits;" as "a debauchee;" as "a man whose elevation would prostrate every barrier between decency and indecency and render insecure every virtue that lifts the home and fireside above the brothel."

"That cock won't fight." The Boston Herald, a Cleveland independent democratic paper, says: "The democratic and independent committees will do well to deal with fresher ammunition than the Mulligan letters." Maine rises to emphasize this remark.

The railroads in their greed have nearly killed off the melon trade of the north with [illegible] qualities of the melon. Last year on the Western Atlantic road there were 2400 carloads, against 250 this year. The Augusta Constitutionalist points to the danger that the fine machine of production and distribution, now so well organized, may be abandoned. The railroads must guarantee the farmers low freights next year or there will be no planting of melons.

Many newspaper men will appreciate the remark of the late Mrs. Clemmer, who once fulfilled a contract to write a column of matter a day for three years. "It was a toilsome time, but it cured me utterly of the mental perversity that waits for the inspiration of creative moods to do what is necessary to be done." There is nothing so effective in bringing on a "mood" for writing as the impelling spur of absolute necessity.

The New York Herald, commenting on Maine, says the result of the election proves Mr. Blaine to be 4000 votes less popular than ex-President Hayes. The present majority in Maine is over 18,000, and may be near 20,000, while Mr. Hayes carried the state by 15,814. So much for a great independent paper when it accepts the vocation of organ grinding.

It is reported that overtures have been made to Mr. St. John to induce him to withdraw his name, but that it is agreed by the two prohibition candidates that they shall stand. The serious importance of the prohibition movement in some of the doubtful states is no longer to be disguised.

According to Butler the democratic party has this year made its usual colossal mistake. This is not surprising; but as to the nature of the present mistake there does not seem a perfect agreement. Butler evidently thinks the mistake was that the party did not nominate himself.

Colonel George W. Hooker, who said a man is a fool not to be a republican in Vermont and a democrat in New York city, has been defeated as candidate for the legislature in Vermont by a democrat. He made a mistake this time in his unfoolishness.

It is apparent that the democratic brethren regard the result in Maine with exceeding cheerfulness. You can tell that by the efforts of the organs to belittle the majority.

In expressing the opinion that there is no navigable sea about the north pole Lieutenant Greely confirms the average common sense view of the case.

In Maine the majority keeps going up and up. It would seem to be about large enough now to satisfy the great "independent" papers of New York.

MORTGAGE TAX LAW.

EAST PORTLAND, Sept. 8.

To EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Much has recently been said and written about hard times and the mortgage tax law. I, for one, am indebted $2000. I have 220 acres of land, and for the same I was to pay $5000. I paid $3000 down, and the remainder on time, with a mortgage to secure the debt of $2000. This mortgage will become due in December next, and I expect to lose my land, as I see no chance of getting any money. I have tried men who formerly loaned money on mortgages; but they say: "Your property is worth six or seven thousand dollars; but we don't want any mortgages. We don't loan any money here any more. Our money is sent out of the country." They say, "We are taxed three or four times higher than you are; that when we loan money out of our county we have to go there to pay our taxes; we have to go there to credit every payment that is made, or pay the taxes on it again; we have to go there to work out our road tax. They also have a tax to build school houses; they rate a tax on us to keep up a school—all this out of our county, while you pay no tax on your property. You claim out your indebtedness of one thousand dollars, which leaves your property worth from three to four, and sometimes five thousand dollars." I look at this just as the man who loans the money, and cannot blame the loaner. My idea is this: We want cheap money; we do not want to pay high interest, however much we need money. Tax no money, tax no credits; tax real estate and merchandise; let all moneys come free. Then men can borrow money at low interest and go into manufacturing. This would open up a market for the farmers' produce. This would build up our cities and furnish employment to thousands of young men and boys, while the young ladies would also get employment. But as long as they think you can "cinch" the loaner with the mortgage tax law you are mistaken. You only "cinch" the borrower and the poor laboring man. The borrower pays the lender 1 or 2 per cent., which pays the tax, while money becomes scarcer. The poor laboring man has to work for low wages on this account. If the above plan had been adopted I would have been out of debt, along with scores of others who are in the same situation as myself.

COMMON SENSE.

POLITICAL DRIFT.

"Is the democratic party to be Tylerized?" is a question which many "straight" democrats are discussing. Referring to the question the New York Sun says: "To a man of Cleveland's intellectual calibre and moral character the role that Tyler played would prove, we fear, congenial. Before his four years were over we should not be surprised to see a rank republican in his cabinet, just as the whigs were shocked to see Calhoun, their most dangerous antagonist, at the head of Tyler's administration. But Cleveland is not elected yet, and the democratic voters have time enough to determine whether they will permit their party to be Tylerized."

The New Haven (Conn.) News declares that "if the power of the independent press does not elect Mr. Cleveland the conclusion will be just that the American newspaper has been a vastly overrated force in American politics—a conclusion, which, aside from any question of party success or failure, will furnish an interesting theme for thinkers and writers who are wont to dilate on the power of the press."

Mr. Hendricks wrote a letter stating his belief that it would be unwise to withdraw Mr. Cleveland, suggesting that there was nothing in the stories told of the candidate at all likely to effect his campaign interests. Thereupon the New York Herald pronounced the letter a forgery, and tip tilting its nose declared that none but a fool would write such a silly production. The very next day Hendricks, in response to a telegram sent by another New York journal, affirmed the authenticity of the letter. This puts the Herald into the singular position of supporting a man for vice president whom it has pronounced a fool. But the Herald, being an "independent" paper of the modern stamp, is equal to the emergency.

Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, who has recently deserted the democracy, and is delivering rousing speeches for Blaine in the west, earnestly declares "The solid south wants remuneration for the war. I did not believe it until it was forced upon me by experience. My belief is that if the so-called democratic party get possession of the government, they will never stop until they get pay for all the slaves liberated by the war. Why do I say so? Because I have heard avowals from them to this effect time and again." Mr. Clay ought to know what he is talking about.

The declaration of the Louisiana sugar planters for Blaine creates commotion in the south. Nearly three columns of frantic editorial in the New Orleans Sunday States, a brief but earnest argument in the Times Democrat, and a letter from Duncan Kenner, have been addressed to the planters to persuade them that their interests are safe in democratic hands. It is barely possible that the sugar growers know their own business best.

Much disgust is felt by the few independents in New Haven, Conn., with the political attitude of ex-President Woolsey of Yale college, who not only refuses to support them, but has accepted the position of presidential elector on the Blaine ticket, and declares that Mr. Cleveland is unfit to be the candidate of a respectable party. The independents proposed to support Henry B. Harrison for governor, but to vote for Cleveland. This action of Mr. Woolsey has left the reform movement in the cold, and more than 100 of the original 166 have withdrawn from the movement. Mr. Harrison, the republican candidate for governor, will take the stump for Blaine.

A Kiss not Legal Consideration.

An English judge has decided that a kiss is not a legal "consideration." A surgeon in Lambeth kissed a workingman's wife; the husband valued the kiss at £5, and the surgeon gave him an I. O. U. for that amount. A month after date an action was brought on this document, but the judge promptly ruled there was no consideration and gave a verdict for the defendant.

CYRUS W. FIELD

Yesterday Mr. Cyrus W. Field of New York, the originator of the Atlantic cable, arrived here by special car. He is accompanied by his wife, Mrs. D. A. Lindly, Mrs. Wm. F. Judson, Cyrus Field Judson, Wm. F. Judson, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hall, Miss M. I. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Salom H. Wales, all of New York. The party have quarters at the Esmond. They have come over the Northern Pacific railroad by daylight and will remain here until Friday, when they start for Victoria.

Mr. Field is one of the syndicate of New York capitalists who advanced to the Oregon and Transcontinental company last January a considerable sum, taking as security large blocks of Oregon Railway and Navigation and Northern Pacific. His visit at this time is partly for pleasure and partly to learn from actual inspection of the country the value of these railway holdings. In conversation with an OREGONIAN representative last night Mr. Field said that his impressions thus far had been very favorable and his observations led him to think better of the country tributary to the Northern Pacific than he ever did from published and verbal reports.

Being questioned about the outlook in national politics Mr. Field said he had no doubt but Blaine would be elected. That he will carry New York is conceded by well informed democrats. The breach between Cleveland and the Tammany democracy, he said, was wider if possible now than it was the week after the democratic convention. There was great apathy, he said, among the old leaders like Bayard and Thurman and the democratic national committee have not been able to raise a tithe of the sum necessary for the legitimate expenses of the campaign. In Ohio Blaine will draw largely from the democratic vote in the manufacturing districts on account of his strong utterances in favor of protection, and republicans are sanguine of carrying the state next month by a comfortable majority.

BRIEF MENTION.

Yesterday's rain brought increased traffic to the street cars.

A. Lumsden, a native of England, was admitted to citizenship in the state circuit court yesterday.

Mr. Joseph Levy, business agent for Lawrence Barrett, is now in the city making preparations for the advent of that eminent tragedian at New Market.

Chas. Lousterm was brought over from Laquina yesterday by Deputy U. S. Marshal Pysell on a charge of selling liquor to an Indian. He will have an examination before the U. S. commissioner to-day.

Ah Tom, the enterprising celestial, who is in chickens by the wholesale and did a land-office business in poultry, was taken up to Salem yesterday to serve out a two years sentence in the penitentiary. Ah Tom, you erred when you took Mr. Lane's prize poultry and now you must suffer for the mistake.

MAGNETIC FISHING APPARATUS.

Editor Halloran of the Astorian must have hired some Yankee sailor as reporter on his journal. The following as a starter is not slow:

He'd been down on Flavel's wharf yesterday morning catching tom-cod when that big sl... came on and wet him to the skin. "Well," he says, "that lets me out. I'm not going to get wet again and I'm going to have tom-cod and smelt too." "How are you going to do it?" "Well, this way. There's no reason why one can't just as well lie in bed and fish as to come down here and get wet and take chances in slipping into the river. I've got a model of my machine; come over and see it. Here's the way it works. You take your bait and throw it out of the window of course having a line attached. The line is connected by a switch with a magnet. When the codlet bites the line switches the current of electricity into the magnet and the magnet pulls a pin out of a slot. This causes a ... lever to fly up and hangs the fish. As soon as he is hooked a bell starts ringing and continues till you take the fish off the line. You can arrange the whole business so that it can be put at the head of the bed and the ringing of the bell will awaken you. Oh, I tell you it's the boss contrivance, and after I get it fixed up I'll just lie at ease and have a mess of fish for breakfast with no trouble beyond taking them off the hook."

Too Great a Sacrifice

Somerville Journal

"Ethelinda Jane," he said, in deep passionate tones, "will you be mine?"

"If—if I thought you loved me," she faltered.

"Love you? I adore you. I would wander this wide world over for your sake."

"Then I will be yours," said the maiden, "but only on one condition."

"What is the condition?" he said in a paroxysm of joy. "Name it, name it, and if it was to snatch the burning sun from the cerulean firmament I would agree to it."

"It is not so difficult as that," she said calmly. "It is simply this—that you will solemnly swear you will never say after we are married that I can't cook as well as your mother."

The young man shook his head and departed very sorrowfully. The sacrifice was too great.

Chicago Herald: The only sure thing ... is that neither the republicans nor democrats will be happy unless they can scare the rest of the country into remittances. There are plenty of politicians in Ohio who want a great deal election every year and a constitutional amendment making Ohio the only October state.

BY RAIL TO BAKER CITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Availing myself of a week's leave of absence I had the good fortune on Saturday last to leave The Dalles as a through passenger on the first regular train to Baker City, and as the event was one of no little importance to the citizens of the Grand Ronde and Powder river valleys with their fertile tributaries a brief review of the trip may prove of interest to your readers there and elsewhere. ... trip ... Columbia a more able pen than my own have ... with ... power of description, and its beauties are well known by the average Orego... at least I will therefore forbear writing ... a hackneyed subject and commence my trip at Umatilla, where the Baker City branch leaves the main line of the O. R. & N. road and verges to the southeast as it prepares for its laborious ascent of the Blue mountains. Leaving the comforts of the Pullman sleeping cars behind us we ... the almost unearthly hour of 10 ... board the mixed train ... arrangements ... accommodations will permit for a 330 mile ... with ... change of cars. The passenger ... is hardly as comfortable or commodious as ... on the line we have just left and is divided into two apartments, one of which is reserved for the ladies and for those who might be considered first class passengers, while the remaining and smaller apartment is reserved for inveterate smokers and those who occasionally ... it the freight ... but more especially on the evening in question with many ... lots ... the miscellaneous baggage ... front to labor in construction. Several ladies were in the party and common courtesy awarded them the first choice of seats and they ... become comfortably ensconced for the night, ... remainder of ... were soon rustling for sleeping accommodations. They were not luxuriant by any means, but more ... less bearable and the conductor and his crew were untiring in their efforts to make us comfortable.

...and soon added her ... to our crew and we dashed onward around curves up and down grades through tunnels and across plains until the dawn of the daylight wooed us from our slumbers. At ... our attention ... the character of the country through which we were passing. Our train having commenced the ascent of the Blue mountains the ... on the west ... being about thirty ... feet to the mile. The ascent was slow as may also be considered the time over the entire route, averaging perhaps fourteen miles to the hour. Old travelers who for years past have crossed and recrossed the range in the lumbering stage coach can but wonder how the science of civil engineering even has overcome the difficulties and dangers incidental to journeys of the past. This however has been successfully accomplished and in spite of almost inaccessible curves, deep ravines and alarming cuts the road is completed and is in first-class condition—very much better than could be expected considering it has been so recently finished. Arriving at Meacham's on the summit the passengers were refreshed with an excellent breakfast, and we then commenced the descent on the eastern slope of the grade being about sixteen feet to the mile. With brakes set and every employe on the train carefully upon the watch the train went thundering along, stopping at occasional stations and dropping here and there a passenger. The scenery on the eastern slope is perfectly grand, in some spots equaling that of the finest views upon the roads across the continent. It is wild and wierd enough for the most enthusiastic, the wildness being occasionally tempered with the glimpses of a home nestled in some valley around which you note signs of civilization, and as you endeavor to take it wholly in a sudden sweep around a curve will obliterate the view and reveal to your wondering eyes a glimpse of mountain grandeur sublime as it is beautiful. High mountains, grand forests and the wonderful results of civil engineering attract your attention and time is not afforded to enjoy it as one would wish.

We thunder along and about 11 o'clock enter the Eden of eastern Oregon—the Grand Ronde valley and pull up at La Grande. The depot is located about a half mile out of town, but the buildings are going up rapidly around the neighborhood of the track where New La Grande is just budding into promise. The town is charmingly located at the head of the valley and nestles closely to the foot hills. Time forbids us visiting the old town, but our impressions are very favorable from a view at a distance. Proceeding onward over a stretch of road for miles in length in which there is neither curve or grade the line sweeps around Union, the county seat of Union county, and leaves it two miles to the east, and following the base of the foot hills affords the passengers an almost unobstructed view of the entire valley with Union in the foreground. Here again we commenced an ascent and passing through one of the longest tunnels on the road sweep around the curve and down another grade into the Powder River valley with its fertile plains bordered by high mountains near the base of which are located numerous gold mines which are now being opened while untold wealth lies hidden beneath the surface yet unbroken. Passing through North Powder, where we took dinner, we pushed onward to our destination in the first passenger coach that ever passed over the road. We reached Baker City at 2:30 P. M. about one hour behind time. The entire town turned out to welcome our arrival. Many of those present probably the majority had never until the present ... completion of the road to that city before seen a train of cars, and the event opened a new epoch in the history of their country.

The town is pleasantly located near the southern end of the valley and a large scope of country ... tributary thereto. Thousands of acres of wild land remain uncultivated, it being owned in large tracts by corporations and capitalists while a vast amount remains yet unsold. The valley consists chiefly of sage brush land which experience has taught is susceptible of a high state of cultivation and will when cultivated make good wheat land. That nearer ... located ... and red even better and they are already dotted with immense wheat fields yet unharvested. The city is nicely laid out with wide streets along which are planted poplars, they being the shade trees that best withstand the severity of their winters. ... if it has traversed the town from end to end ... about large ... this summer made ... less ... Many ... residences ... business blocks are ... and ... the town a thrifty appearance. The mining interests of Baker county are attracting the attention of capitalists from abroad and promise in the near future to become a leading and profitable industry in their midst. Several mines have been already opened and are panning out handsomely. Business men there as elsewhere complain of dull times but are hopeful of the future. They will do well to foster the Grant county trade which with a comparatively trifling expense in the repair of the road connecting the two counties can be made tributary to them and add materially to their business prosperity. The Grant county people have evinced a willingness to do their part in the enterprise and it remains to be seen whether the Baker City people will permit the outlay of a little money to stand in the way of securing to their town an important a trade as now lies in their grasp. The place is well provided with churches and schools, among the latter the Baker City academy plastered with a $11,000 mortgage held by the state and secured for them under the democratic administration of 1870-6. The county court house is not perhaps a model of architectural beauty but answers their purpose while their jail aids violators of the law in occasionally evading the ends of justice. The Brothers school is a substantial building and the work done by them is productive of good results. Fruits and all kinds of garden vegetables thrive luxuriantly, although their culture is of but recent date. A remarkable feature of their orchards is that the bark of their fruit trees retain the smoothness possessed by them when first set out instead of becoming rough and knarled as they do in other localities. The trees are literally loaded down with fruit and vegetables are very plentiful.

A DEMOCRAT DEFENDS MR. BLAINE.

Evidence Regarding the Kentucky Scandal. How a Vile Story Originated

The following letter is from a son of Thornton F. Johnson, the principal of the school in Kentucky in which Mr. and Mrs. Blaine were teachers. The writer of the letter is now a civil engineer at Dallas, Texas, and is a highly respected democrat. The letter is addressed to the editor of the Indianapolis ... and is as follows:

I answer to your request for a statement as to any facts relating to the slander concerning Mr. and Mrs. Blaine as published in the Indianapolis Sentinel, I will say this much:

This slander was first circulated at Drennon Springs, Kentucky in March 1881 by a ... named ... a tailor from ... who went to Drennon to collect some bills due him by the cadets for suits ... the pr... at Blue Licks. His object in originating this story was either to pander to the appetite of young men for such ... or to gratify his spite he entertained against Mr. Blaine, Mr. Blaine being at that time absent from the institution on a trip to Louisville ... the scandal did not reach his ears or it would have been promptly disposed of then and there forever. The ... remaining one ... although unbelieved in it was scattered to the four winds of heaven by the lovers of such tittle tattle. In this way originated the slander against the fair name of a most modest lady, without one shadow of fact whereon such an insinuation ...

Mr. Blaine remained as professor of Latin in the institution until ... when he ... principal ... in October 1851. ... to ... that ... the least ... of such ... being true, that Mr. Blaine would have ... his ... connection with the ... intimately associated with ... I knew both Mr. and Mrs. Blaine intimately, as thoroughly as any man can know his own brother and sister, ... the ... of eating at the same table ... the same family circle ... I never ... and ... suspicion. Never was there a more modest and prudent lady than Mrs. Blaine ... a more perfect gentleman than Mr. Blaine. While I always liked Mr. Blaine as a professor and admired him as a man ... in politics we differ materially. ... not ... possible for a ... to differ from a ... republican ... I ... and ... vindicate the ... party for the presidency ... but to vindicate the fair fame of Mrs. Blaine. I close by stating that in my opinion so far as I know the story is a false and ridiculous slander in every particular.

THE EAST SIDE.

The wife of officer Jerelaman has returned from a protracted visit to Ilwaco much improved in health.

The literary guild of the Baptist church enjoyed themselves at a sociable held at the residence of Mr. W. J. Alton last evening.

Ross Merrick and Fred Kindorf have returned from a gunning expedition in the wilds of Clackamas county with a portion of a large elk. The inference is plain.

J. H. Taft was fined $10 and costs by Justice Coleman Tuesday for assault and battery on C. H. Wheeler. The attack was the result of an altercation concerning business of which they were partners.

Prof. J. B. Ewing, formerly principal in school district No 2, proposes to embark in the book and stationery business in Portland and Prof. Lass has succeeded him as principal with Misses Green and Kern as assistants.

Thomas and Charles Fleming—the former of whom had been with W. J. Cameron & Co. for several months—left for Chicago on the outgoing steamer in response to a dispatch announcing the death of their father at that place.

An item calculated to mislead firemen was recently published in a contemporary to the effect that a hydrant had been placed at the corner of Twelfth and L streets. Such is not the case. The item was probably based on the supposition that one should be there by this time, but the contractors appear to be dilatory in delivering the goods.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL BUILDING

PORTLAND, Sept ... 10

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Now that the time for the winter school term to commence is near ... the school authorities of the Central school ... take some timely safe steps ... about the risk of fire which under the present management of the building most certainly exists. An arrangement ought to be made with the owner to close up the store underneath, of which there are seven and one of them is occupied as a grocery and ... for the sale of patent coal oil filling cans, and it is presumed both carry ... The danger from any one of the stores or offices from fire is very great.

It is all very well for the directors to say there is a perfect system of fire drill in vogue in the school, but what perfect good would it be in case of a real alarm, even should it go no further. Many lives would be lost in the jam and especially on the stairs. Should we not have a repetition of the New York horror of a couple of years ago, when many ... innocent darlings were sacrificed by being trampled to death? It is the bounden duty of every parent to ... this matter up ... attention of the directors. What are a few paltry dollars ... compared to the value of the lives at stake? ... W. A.

THE FAIRS

But little has been accomplished in the way of harvesting now for ten days. Many acres of grain are yet standing in this county. The season till September 1 was an exceptionally good one, but it is feared and with good cause that there will be very little more grain saved this year. Hops will stand five or six days more of rain without damage. Growers are diligently improving what time they have for picking. For the last twenty-four hours the rain has been falling almost steadily.

MANHOOD RESTORED.

Victims of youthful imprudence, causing Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or excess, will learn of a simple remedy, FREE, by addressing J. H. REEVES, 43 Chatham street, New York.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING. SEPT. 11 1884.

CURIOUS AND SINGULAR.

THE RICHEST FARMER IN THE WORLD.

Springfield Republican: The richest farmer in the world—the richest man with farming for his chief or only business—died two months ago at Buenos Ayres. His name was Nicholas Anchorena, and his executors report as belonging to his estate 1710 square miles of land, 152,000 cows and 410,000 sheep. He also owned much other property, and the total value is given as £2,400,000. He inherited £200,000 from his father thirty years ago.

PAGANISM IN SIBERIA.

The territory of Russian Siberia, one and a half times as large as the United States, has belonged to Russia three centuries, yet of the 4,000,000 inhabitants nearly one-half are still Pagan. Paganism is fostered by the home government. The Pagan priests are allowed to collect and burn the copies of the bible with which the missionaries supply the converts, and no missionary may baptize without the authority of the pagan civil authorities, who are allowed to do almost anything to drive Christianity from the country.

A STRAW WATCH.

Brooklyn Eagle: The Bohemians speak enthusiastically of the feat performed by a young prisoner sentenced for five years to Karthaus. It is a straw watch five centimeters in diameter by two in thickness. The works comprise a few bits of straw, some cotton, two needles and a pin, a small piece of paper forming the dial. It is said to go for six hours, and could be made to go twelve with a few improvements. It does not seem to occur to the convict's admiring countrymen that he could have turned his time to better purpose than the construction of a curious and useless toy.

ELECTRIC INSECTS.

Cincinnati Enquirer: General Davis of the British army, who was a famous insect collector, once picked up a wheelbug in the West India islands, and received a blow that paralyzed his arm for some time. As he shook the insect off he noticed where it had stood on his hand six red marks, the impression of its feet. Kirby and Spence also refer to this peculiarity of the insect, and other naturalists have received shocks from certain of the luminous beetles. Captain Blakeney took up an unknown caterpillar and immediately received such a shock that his entire right side became paralyzed and for a long time he was dangerously ill.

AN OLD DEFALCATION.

Thirty years ago W. A. Gorham was governor of what was then the territory of Minnesota. When the territory was admitted to the union as a state he rendered his accounts and was deposed from the position. The accounts which he submitted at the time were audited a few days since and a shortage of nearly $2000 discovered. Papers were sent to the United States district attorney for the state of Minnesota with instructions to begin suit. The department has now been informed that both Gorman and his sureties have been dead a number of years. The loss will therefore never be made up.—Chicago Journal.

AN ADVANTAGE FROM THE CHOLERA.

New Haven Palladium: The cholera scare in France has doubtless brought to America this advantage at least, that it has saved them many millions of dollars, and enabled some of them to see something of their own country. The hotels of Paris are said to be comparatively deserted. Taking the four weeks in July the arrivals were 99,424, and the departures 97,629, as against 113,132 arrivals in July last year, and 105,014 departures. Paris has thus had 14,000 fewer visitors in a single month than came to her during the same period last year. And yet there has been no real danger in visiting Paris. The fear of detention from quarantine has, however, made travelers prefer resting at home and at home resorts.

AN IRON-CLAD STOMACH.

Placer (Cal.) Herald: J. A. Miller of Forest Hill possesses what might be termed a galvanized, elastic stomach. He could eat anything without nauseating him, and as for quantity it was never known exactly how much his stomach would hold. On one occasion it is said he ate eight small cans of oysters, several cans of peaches, besides crackers, cheese, and bologna in proportion, and washed it down with eight or ten glasses of beer, and then afterward when asked to sing a song, he wanted to know if they expected him to sing on an empty stomach. It is said also that he would sometimes catch flies and eat them down by the handful just to show what he could do. At one time he ate a mouse, head, ears and hair, on a wager of $1 50.

A FLOATING ISLAND.

White Plains, N. Y., Journal: Situated one and a half miles north of Poundridge is a pretty little sheet of water called Trinity lake. It is the source of supply for Stamford, Connecticut, fourteen miles away. There is a singular phenomenon connected with this lake, which is not generally known, except to a few residents of this locality. It is what is called a floating island, a good-sized body of land, which has for several years appeared at regular intervals near the center of the lake, and, after remaining upon the surface of the water for several days, sinking again to the bottom, about forty-five feet. No one has yet taken the trouble to investigate the phenomenon, and the country people have become so accustomed to it that they think little about it.

A SINGULAR DEATH.

New York Evening Post: The death of Lord Lauderdale from a stroke of lightning was very singular. The bolt apparently struck his lordship's head, and passing downward on its way to earth, found a medium in his gold watch and chain, for one or two of the links were fused, as well as part of the case, though, strangely enough, the watch continued to go. The electric current seemed to have afterward passed downward along the surface of the body, and then to have come in contact with the pony which his lordship was riding, instantly killing it, as has been already stated. The deer stalking hat which the earl was wearing at the time was torn to shreds, and was thrown by the shock in one direction, while the pony and the rider fell in another.

THE APPOMATTOX APPLE TREE.

Gen. Grant: When I reached Appomattox Lee had been in McClean's house for some time. All there is of the apple tree story is this: When I received a note from Lee asking to meet me at Appomattox, where he then was, I sent him a note saying I would be there as soon as possible. There was an old apple orchard on the hillside opposite McClean's house, where the advance of Lee's army had halted when the white flag was exhibited. A farm road ran diagonally up the hill through the orchard. In places where trees were close to the wheel tracks on the upper side of the road the roots had been cut off by being continually run over. This left a low bank between the road and trees so cut. When the officer (Gen. O. E. Babcock) who bore my reply to Gen. Lee reached him, he was seated on one of these embankments, with his feet in the road and his back against the tree. He was then invited to pass through our lines to a house to await my arrival.

A Feline Warier.

Poughkeepsie News-Press.

A wise cat in a Pennsylvania town avenged the death of her kittens by snakes in an original and courageous manner. Creeping within one foot of the snake she stopped and raised her left fore paw cautiously toward the pilot snake. Like a flash the latter struck at the paw, but the cat was quicker still, and bringing her right paw into play, dealt the snake a blow on the side of the head that knocked it back a foot or more. The reptile, evidently greatly surprised and maddened by the cat's attack, returned to the fight. Again the cat presented her left forepaw and again the pilot struck viciously at it, only again to miss and to receive the violent right-hander alongside the head. This was repeated four times, when the snake, weakened and thoroughly dispirited, turned and tried to drag itself away. Instantly the cat sprang upon the retreating reptile, and with two or three strokes of her sharp claws tore it to pieces. She carried the remains of the dead snake to a distant part of the yard, where she dug a hole and buried it.

Restaurant proprietors are not always bad masters. "Here!" called a man, making an impatient gesture, which quickly brought the negro waiter, "this is the worst piece of beefsteak I ever saw."

"What's de matter wid it, boss? Ain't it healthy?"

"Healthy! why, it was fed on the Banting system—all muscle and no fat. Can't you bring me a better piece?"

"No, sah, dat's de bes' we's got."

DOLLARS BY THE TON.

Six Thousand Tons of Silver Money Now in the Treasury—Some Hundreds of Tons Added to the Stock Every Year.

Washington Letter.

The treasury now holds, in round numbers, 136,000,000 silver dollars. While this money is subject to the order of the treasurer of the United States, it is not, as believed by many persons, held in the vaults of the treasury department at Washington. Indeed, a very small amount of this large silver surplus is actually held here, for the excellent reason that sufficient accommodation has not heretofore existed. The bulk of the silver is stored at New York, the remainder being distributed among the larger commercial cities of the country, only about $5,000,000 being actually held at the treasury department at Washington. Few persons, perhaps, have any conception of the vastness of the silver now held by the United States in the form of standard silver dollars. The fiscal affairs of the government have been conducted on so magnificent a scale during and since the war of the rebellion that the public have come to consider the sum of $50,000,000 or $100,000,000 as an ordinary matter of governmental administration, and we are so familiar with the more convenient form of currency in our personal affairs that we do not stop to contemplate the bulk and weight of this steadily increasing silver deposit which finds lodgment in the treasury.

As previously stated there is now held by the treasury 136,000,000 silver dollar pieces. This is a large sum of money in any form, but it is only when reduced to pounds and tons that an intelligent idea is obtained as to its bulk and weight. When it is known that the weight of the silver dollars now held by the government is 9,738,969 pounds, and that this enormous weight is being increased at the rate of 1,718,640 pounds per annum, the public will better appreciate the magnificent way in which the government manufactures money. The vast quantity of silver which is troubling treasury officials to properly take care of represents over 4869 tons of 2000 pounds each, and if placed in the ordinary carts used for transporting coal in large cities would make a procession fourteen miles long, assigning one ton to each cart and allowing fifteen feet space for the movement of each vehicle. When, in addition to this, it is stated that the treasury is receiving each month seventy-one cart loads of silver disks, and that 860 tons are being annually added to the stock of silver on hand, the bulk and weight, as well as the force and effect, of the silver act of 1878 will be better understood and appreciated. The above figures do not include the silver bullion and fractional silver coins held by the treasury. Of the latter there is now on hand $30,000,000, and of the former $4,000,000, the aggregate weight of which is 1217 tons, thus making the total weight of silver now in the treasury 6086 tons.

To provide adequate storage for this immense stock of silver an additional vault has been constructed in the basement of the treasury department building directly underneath the cash room. This vault is 31 feet 4 inches wide, 55 feet 4 inches long, and 9 feet 4 inches high. It contains 18,810 cubic feet of space, and will hold 50,000,000 silver dollars, which represents in bulk 1790 tons. The vault is constructed with special regard to strength and safety. The walls, ceiling and floor are constructed of three chilled iron and two steel plates riveted together, each of the iron plates being ½ inch in thickness, and each of the two steel plates five-sixteenths of one inch, thus making the metal case, which forms the defense of the vault, over two inches in thickness. The foundation of the vault rests upon the earth, and the iron and steel flooring is laid upon twelve inches of hydraulic cement to guard against entrance by means of a tunnel. The two doors by which entrance is obtained are massive, all known materials being used in their construction to make them safe against felonious assault. Each door is furnished with two locks, and these locks are so constructed as to work separately or together. The bolts of each may be operated on the same or different combinations, yet should any derangement occur to one, the door may be released by the other.

It is claimed for these locks that their bolts cannot be drawn by the use of dynamite or other explosives. The inner door is also supplied with a time lock of the latest and most improved workmanship. Between the inside and outside doors there is a vestibule five feet in length, and midway across this vestibule is a lattice door constructed of three-eighths iron furnished with a secure lock. This door is intended to guard against intrusion when the vault is open, which will be only at such times as those inside are engaged in issuing or receiving silver. The vault can be reached only by passing through a room into which an elevator descends from the cash room, the floor above, which room will be constantly occupied by the watchman in charge.

The key of the outside door will be in the keeping of the cashier of the treasury, Mr. J. Whelpley, and that of the inside door by Treasurer Wyman, or an officer of the treasury whom he may designate. Even with the keys of the two doors entrance cannot be obtained to the vault until that hour of each day for which the time lock on the inside door may be set. In addition to the security offered by the iron and steel walls the vault is guarded from the outside by three feet of solid masonry. The interior of the vault is divided by an aisle which runs its length, and on each side of which there are seven compartments. The compartments or bins are separated by latticed walls composed of iron five-eighths of an inch in thickness and extending to the ceiling. These bins are not all of the same dimensions. The smallest will hold $3,000,000 and the largest $4,000,000.

Phenomena on the Washington Monument.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. The Washington monument is rapidly approaching completion. Nothing now remains to be done except to finish the Pyramidal top. The mechanics engaged upon the roof have noticed curious and interesting phenomena. One of them has contributed to the Evening Star the result of his observations. He says:

"Last Thursday afternoon, during the fierce storm which prevailed, quite a hail storm occurred on top of the monument, but not a single one of the frozen pellets reached the earth. The stones were so large as to severely sting the faces of the men, against which they were driven by the sharp gale; and the fact that they were all melted before they touched ground would seem to indicate much lower temperature at the summit than at the base of the shaft, though the size of the particles would naturally be diminished somewhat during their whole course through the atmosphere from their starting point.

"At sunset, when the atmosphere is very clear and the sun unobscured, a beautiful phenomenon is observable from the top. Long after the sun has passed from view at the base, it is still shining bright and strong against the summit, high in air. The result is that a strong shadow of the monument only is projected across the sward of the Smithsonian ground to the eastward. This is due to the fact noted above—that the sun still falls with full force against the summit, while the horizon line has cut off its rays from the base. Of course it is not possible for persons on a level with the earth to observe this novel exhibition, but from the top of the column the sharp shadow of the extreme summit, with the line of shade growing fainter and fainter nearer the monument, until the shadow lines of the lower part are entirely lost, can be seen quite plainly from the great elevation afforded by the aerial outlook, and the effect is very singular. Perhaps no other elevation in the world would furnish in itself such novel and conclusive evidence of great height."

Snake Lore.

Washington Star.

Rheem, who has charge of the reptile specimens in the Smithsonian institute, contradicts much of the popular belief as to snakes. Some of the most dreaded have no existence. The hoop snake, which takes the end of its tail in its mouth and rolls over and over like a hoop, killing everything it touches with its venom, and the blow snake, the breath of which is deadly, are fictitious. As serpents move about they are constantly feeling ahead with the tongue, and the forward thrust and peculiar forked appearance of this organ has given rise to the false idea that with it the stinging is done. It is generally thought that here are a great number of poisonous snakes. In North America there are but three species—the rattlesnake, the copperhead or moccasin and the coral. There are about thirty varieties of these species altogether. The copperhead is probably the most dangerous, as it is vicious, and never gives warning of any kind before striking. The rattlesnake, though more poisonous than either of the others will rattle at the approach of anything, and try to get away unless brought to bay. The coral is much smaller, and is a native of the southern states. The bite is not necessarily fatal if the proper remedies are used in time, as, on account of its size, the quantity of poison is small. When a reptile strikes he throws his whole body forward, and the fangs penetrate the object against which they come. He does not jump; the hinder part of the body remains in position, and none of our snakes is in the habit of reaching more than half its length.

The Iron Walls of France and England.

German Military Gazette.

Great Britain still holds the first place with her armored fleet; France the second, formerly the third, Italy the fourth, Russia the fifth, and Austria the sixth. But at the present moment France is building fourteen vessels of the most powerful model and eight armored vessels for coast defense. Therefore, in four years France will have thirty war vessels, twelve of which will be of the first class, and England thirty-two, only one of which will be of the same strength as any of the twelve French ships. Italy is now building five first-class war vessels; Russia three and three ironclad cruisers; Germany one ironclad cruiser and two gunboats; Austria one war vessel and Denmark one ironclad for coast defense.

Consequently the maritime pre-eminence of Great Britain is decidedly menaced by France. England being obliged to employ a great portion of her fleet in the Mediterranean and at different distant points, it is fair to presume that in 1887 or 1888 France would be able to oppose a fleet of forty-two armored vessels against an English one of thirty at the most, including even the vessels for coast defenses.

WHEAT—A further depression abroad serves to weaken views here, and few operators name beyond $1 05 and $1 10 for Walla Walla and valley. Chicago and New York are firmer, apparently laughing at quoted declines abroad, at a fraction advance is quoted. The local market is despondent, and a lower range of values appears certain.

CALCUTTA, August 17.—The agricultural department of the government has issued a memorandum on the wheat harvest of the current year, from which it appears that the yield in the northwestern provinces was somewhat below the average, owing to the deficiency in the autumn and winter rains; while in the Punjaub and Bombay the average was slightly exceeded; in the central provinces the harvest was excellent, being fully 16 per cent. above the average. The total yield of these four provinces is estimated at 24,300,000 quarters. Reports have not yet been received from Bengal or Rajpootana, but it is evident that the total out-turn of India will come up to what is supposed to be the annual average—namely, 30,500,000 quarters. And if this year's autumn rains do not fail, at least one-fifth of that quantity should be available for export, without materially enhancing the price. The wheat exports have been of moderate amount since January last, and it is believed that a considerable quantity is now in stock.

Note—This appears the first official estimate of the yield of Indian wheat, but does not include that of the native states.

Admiral Hewitt in Abyssinia.

The special correspondent of the London Daily News, who accompanied Admiral Hewitt on his mission to Abyssinia, writing from Adowa, gives an interesting account of the experiences of the mission so far. He says: "The other day we witnessed a wedding, and we had followed the wedding party some distance, having resolved to present the husband with a present of dollars. He received them with much pleasure, but when thanking us, a mounted soldier rode up, snatched them from his hand, and threw them at the head of our interpreter. This was one of many insults we had received from the troops of the governor. Since the day of our arrival he and his officials have been most discourteous. He pointedly delayed calling on the admiral, and when he condescended to do so was so drunk and stupid that he had to be supported by his interpreter on his road home. He forbade the people in the district and towns to bring us supplies. In Adowa there are no shops or hostelries of any description, the people getting their goods from the market held once a week. Tedge and beer are brewed, corn converted into flour, and all cooking prepared in each household. Unless, therefore, these people are allowed to sell or give hospitality the traveler's chance of escape from starvation is a small one.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitution becomes corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—Nos. 132 and 134 Third street, corner of Alder, opposite Masonic Hall.

Office Hours—10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.
